Easy Convey to help shape Government strategy as founder member of high-level E-Homebuying Forum

New influential body will provide a collective voice for the industry as the e-conveyancing market continues to evolve

Easy Convey Ltd (www.easyconvey.com), a leading developer of electronic conveyancing products and services, has today announced that it is a founder member of the eHomeBuying Forum, an industry body that has been created by the leading companies in the mortgage lending, property searches, conveyancing and legal IT sectors.

The Forum, launched last month, will work with HMLR, the Ministry of Justice, the Department for Communities and Local Government and other interested stakeholders in order to support the expansion of e-conveyancing, and will also help to influence policy development by promoting the ideas, innovation, and experiences of the private sector.

"We are very excited by the opportunity to play an important role in the way that e-conveyancing will develop in the future," says Dominic Cullis, managing director, Easy Convey. "As a member of the E-Homebuying Forum, we will have the chance to be part of a influential collective voice that holds real weight in this dynamic and fast-changing industry."

Forum members will be able to offer input into policy decisions at Ministerial level, and will regularly have the opportunity to suggest ideas and initiatives to HMLR, and to contribute to white papers that will help to formulate the industry's overall vision for e-conveyancing. Likewise, members will benefit from valuable market intelligence through dialogue and regular written implementation updates from HMLR, as well as from access to regular industry networking events.

Easy Convey's Conveyancing Administration Software Application (CASA) has helped to make the Company a pioneer in the e-conveyancing industry. As the first electronic conveyancing application to provide automated case tracking and to integrate with all three NLIS Channels, CASA has a proven track record for helping lawyers and licensed conveyancers with all areas of conveyancing administration.

In addition, solicitors practices and licensed conveyancers can also use CASA to submit their Inland Revenue SDLT returns electronically, and to print the certificate immediately on acceptance of the submission. Previously, the need to use printed forms sent via the post meant that this process could take up to four weeks. However, by using CASA to manage this same information electronically, the process now takes just minutes, with all submissions guaranteed to be correctly formatted and completed.

"The E-Homebuying Forum will help to ensure that e-conveyancing initiatives continue to develop and expand," says Mark Riddick, Chairman of the Forum. "By working together, members of the Forum aim to provide industry-wide strategic vision and direction to modernize the home-buying process – to the benefit of buyers, sellers and other stakeholders alike. We are very keen to work with all of the parties involved to ensure that this happens, and we are delighted that Easy Convey will be taking an active role in this process."
